Just like the bible, he was exactly the same. He would even cut himself. He would bang his head so he wore a football helmet. He was tied to the chair with his arms restrained but he was a Houdini. He always got out. He wouldn't keep clothes on. He was put in a padded cell when he would escape the chair. Most of all--he was a millionaire. He was the son of a millionaire. He could not enjoy any of it.

He makes a great analogy. He is like a Christian who could have all God's blessings, by faith, but remains restrained by the powers of darkness, just because of wrong thinking. Hurting his own self because he goes without all God has for him.

Here is another person. He was a giant. He was huge in muscles also. We were alerted to go and restrain him--several people of course. They said lay off we will send the security officers. When we saw him he had his bed standing up head board down foot board up. he was wild. One officer said to him, will you go with us? He calmly said okay. He was acting like a normal person. Off he walked to maximum security. He will be restrained and behind bars for a little while.

He makes a good analogy also. The officer who has been delegated as a authority, just spoke a word and the dangerous man obeyed. We can speak God's word by faith and have the authority of the Holy Spirit. The powerful enemy knows we have authority of God's word. We are more than a conqueror through Christ Jesus. Remember the devil acts up but we have power of God and his word. God bless.
