Over the past 20 years we've (my family) given to various ministries, supported children and indigenous missionaries through Christian Aid, Compassion, etc. But, you don't necessarily know how the money is used, is the missionary your supporting truly a believer, are they opposed to the message of faith, etc., other than being led and trusting in the Lord.

But where do you guys give? Are their ministries out there that believe closer to what we do, etc.?
