America has been become a haven for senseless non-sense.

Here's the latest non-sense:

Quote: INDIANAPOLIS (WISH) â€“ A new billboard on Indyâ€™s southeast side is urging people not to eat turkey this Thanksgiving and itâ€™s aimed at young people.

The ad shows a baby turkey crying â€œMommy! Mommy!â€• beside a cooked bird on a plate. The billboard also says â€œLet everyone be with their family.â€•

The billboard, sponsored by PETA, went up near two IPS schools at the intersection of Post and Brookville Roads.

PETA officials said they chose to display the billboard in Indianapolis because of its high concentration of children under 14. They say they want the billboard â€œto spark discussions between children and parents about compassion at the holiday table.â€• â€œChildren are naturally drawn to and love animals, and most would not eat turkey if they knew that the turkey centerpiece had been a real-life bird and part of a family and flock,â€• says mother and PETA Executive Vice President Tracy Reiman.

PETA says around 46 million turkeys will be killed for Thanksgiving and another 22 million for Christmas.

You mean those kids don't know that use to be a bird. Next year Tracy it would be nice if we could all have twenty pound Gummie bears, shaped like a turkey. Doesn't anyone out there care about the baby cranberries being ground up?
