...of Freeman's essay "The Problem of the Efficacy of Old Testament Sacrifices" (Bulletin of the Evangelical Theological Society, 5 no 3 1962, p 73-79)? I bumped into it at GSU's library this week and was sure to make copies. Legally, I can't just post it on the forums for free-for-all downloading, but I can email it for individuals' use.

Do you know if anyone ever published his dissertation on the substitutionary atonement?

Blessings,
William

Hard to say. I'd never really thought about checking Uni libraries for Freeman's materials before. I ran a few database searches after I found this one, but most of what's on file are news reports and reviews of An Intro to the OT Prophets.

Please forward a copy to me at chris.duncan@regions.com.

As for his dissertation, he mentioned in one of his theology sermons I heard last week that he was thinking about publishing it. I don't know if he, or anyone else, ever did. He mentioned that it was somewhere around 450 pages.
