I just added a new feature that will give the scripture reference when you hover over it with a mouse... for example: Gen 1:1

You can also see the complete context by clicking on the reference.

The only problem I see so far is that if the title of the thread contains only the scripture passage (like a thread with the title of a scripture reference) you can't get into the thread without going to the last message posted. I'll see if there is a work-around without going back and changing all of the scripture references to something different.

If you notice any other anomalies let me know... if it doesn't work out I can always take it off.

[edited to add: You can get to the first message in a thread that has a scripture reference as its title by clicking on the little down arrow in front of the reference!]

[edited again to say that the problem with the title is fixed... now if a scripture reference already has a hyperlink the feature won't do anything to the previous link!]

Blessings,
William

Neat! I already had InstaVerse (thanks to Bro Dave) but this will benefit everyone. Will it work for those who just come by to read without logging in? Yep, just answered my own question by checking it out, good deal.

Now I got scriptures popping up in little boxes all over the screen... Guess I could set one for the KJV and the other in another translation in order to compare.

Good addition, gets a thumbs up from me... Now to get those 1,102 people who were visiting the site Tuesday April 5 @ 2:09 to share what God is doing in their lives with us will be next on the agenda.

That would be exciting James...to hear and share what Jesus is doing in our lives from across this board. However, I wouldn't "cross my fingers." Uh oh...major occult blunder! lol

Wow, that must be a bug in the software... or maybe google is indexing the site.

Blessings,
William

This is a great addition to the site. Just had a chance to really look at it.
