

---

Subject: A vision by Tom Hicks of the churches future.
Posted by David Coleman on Thu, 15 Feb 2024 18:41:29 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

There are a lot of false Prophets, teachers and heretics who place this vision on their videos. They do it to get people drawn to their false ministry. The vision and the devil tries to corrupt truth. Look on you tube to hear the vision read to you. Just to hear about the vision. So far the message appears to be a hope for the church but it is not accurate. If there are more visions on end times share with us. we do believe in some being true.

---

---

Subject: Re: A vision by Tom Hicks of the churches future.
Posted by David Coleman on Fri, 22 Mar 2024 14:45:42 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

A brother in the Lord and I were fellowshiping. We both were looking deeper into the dream of Hicks. it seems there are flaws which are difficult to pick up when first reading the dream.

1. There are 3 questions which are eye opening. There is much said about the coming of a anointing. It is said about the falling under the power. That false revival is here now and like a giant is all over the world.

2. When one is baptized in the Holy Spirit and Jesus becomes the head. That union is never separated and have to come on the people.

3. At the end of the paper about the dream, it appears he is saying that it is the time of the tribulation. If the saints who were ready were caught up in Rev.12 are gone how can they be manifesting a anointing. also they would not need to throw off demons because they were overcomers walking in perfection and fullness.

This sounds like Pentecostal denominationalism. What do you think? I am sure it seems to line up with the manifested sons, but it can't be for they will be raptured before the trib. Those who have the Holy Spirit have the anointing already, they will use faith and do greater works. The power of the kingdom is in them, not fall on them.

---