

With respect to divine healing like it was taught 30 years ago . .

The best memories I have are from the time when week after week there was a clear, strong Word preached - healing every time, no exceptions.

Then tragedies began and there were messages about doubters, sinners, open doors, Job, etc.

Then more serious and prominent tragedies and then the down the drain spiral began.

=====

As I see it right now. That clear uncompromised message is Bible, demonstrable and undeniable

. . . . BUT . . . .

there is some sort of severe lack in our anointing so that it does not work.

So believing for healings in serious cases cannot be done safely at this time.

Are there any ministers out there still preaching divine healing in an uncompromised way?

How do they handle the serious cases to avoid tragedies?
