Its not up to me what to say about breaking the rules or not. I just find it somewhat questionable. I do believe there is more to the constellations in the sky than our civilization (christian or not) has any understanding of. What I find questionable is that most seeing that are only going to see astrology. In other words "right or wrong" it is simply not very edifying.

Thats just my opinion.

This is a friendly answer, I respect your opinion. I am thankful for replies from anyone. I still love you or them as long as their not heretical. And even then wish they would come to Jesus.

To help those with the astrology problem. In the video we see this event happening at Jesus raising from the dead. Also the fulfilling of Gen. 3:15 where Jesus conquers Satan. It is something we would think the devil wouldn't be excited about. He wouldn't like us to see in picture form the greatest destruction of his bondage of human souls being destroyed. Jesus is called the bright and morning star. in Rev. 22:16 not a astrology corruption there. see Rev. 12:1-5.

This video was created to show what NASA would see if looking at the time in which Jesus was on the resurrection morning. What was seen was the fulfillment of the Gen. 3:15 sign and prophesy. The Ram was in the sunrise (Jesus) Lamb of God. and The scorpion was under the feet of him who wrestled with the serpent. thereby crushing his poisonous head. death where is thy sting? This sign was perfect in timing. another prophesy fulfilled was the timing whereby Jesus just happened to be crucified on pass over. Also the pass over Lamb.
