

---

Subject: A second opinion about Charismatics.

Posted by David Coleman on Wed, 14 Jun 2023 20:24:30 GMT

View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

---

From the worldly to the religions to the Denominations, some one has to stand up and say this.

The reproaches upon the truth of God will not prevail. (gates of Hades) When many people see something wrong or strange things, they are apt to cast it out as trash. That happened at the cross. This Jesus cult speaks against the laws of Moses. Nothing has changed. Today the devil is working overtime to lead away from the gospel and Holy Spirit. He raises up wolves in sheep clothing-- oh I guess I was judging there (haha). Frauds who are really out to rip the money off the gullible. TV preachers have got to be right, after all they are popular. They preach Jesus so they must be right.

My point is--- The truth is out there. They are the elect of God and they are God's sons who soon will be manifested . They are like Jesus as disciples. Don't wait to long, They will be raptured sooner than you think, pray and follow. God is leading you to them for they are Holy Spirit filled with the truth of God. What a relief to stand up and say, not all Charismatics are true Charismatics.

---