They allow guests to login and view their courses...

We are famous!

Use the "Login AS GUEST" Button and see the video.

Well that`s just great..

Now you will have secret service protection. What about the rest of us..

Oh wait a minute.. Were all in the secret society.

Reminds me of a polka.. We are here we are there we are everywhere.
I probably shouldnt have used that evil face.

Internet apostles unite.

As Khruschuf (sp)once said. We will bury you. bang bang. Thats my shoes banging on the table

Okay guys, I confess... I had a little midnight madness going on last evening.

I've been working non-stop for about 2 weeks on a project using some of the same Course Management software... about 20-25 videos... and I just snapped!

Speaking of the course software, if anyone thinks it might be worthwhile we can utilize some of it on the theology and bible studies. I'm not sure it would be worth the time, but I do have that site (pickamind.com) that I've been using as a site to experiment and test the courses we are using in our project. Let me know what you think.

Blessings,
William

I am so ready with all my spices, herbs and oils! When do we begin? I have some vegy oil, canola oil, and since this is a special ritual, will even use extra, extra virgin olive oil! I even have some "Oil of Olay" that can be splashed on. I think I may also use some fresh garlic, parsley and oregano, and then whatever else I can find in the cupboard or garden.

I do think the person who has exposed the "false" internet apostles should be shown no mercy , but with all that is in the apostles power, he should be shown for what he really is: a deceiver, who deceives the guillible, (not to mention women and children.) So on that note, go get em Alanbook and James!!! Off with his head, or at least his microphone.

Well you sure had me fooled. I went out and told my wife we had hit the big times. Then my sister called so I told her too.
