I didn't realize until last evening that the library section required the moderators to approve the messages/uploads before becoming available to the public... it was a setting that somehow got set when I first opened it up...

It should be completely open now so let me know if you have any problem posting.

Blessings,
William

Sure, sure,

Just another example of 'the man' trying to keep us down...

Seriously William, you do an excellent job and I just want to say thanks and that it's appreciated. I believe this forum is becoming a place of healing, actually body ministry via the internet.

May God bless you...

When I get home, I'll see about uploading a couple of Cal and Audie's songs. I'm working on trying to get some clean copies of them, all I have is a cassette tape, and not all of it plays well.

I've been in Michigan most of the week, working. I'm going home to Ohio tomorrow afternoon.
