It had rained on Monday and all day Tuesday. On Tuesday evening the sun was right on the horizon. There was that last mist of rain as the rain was also leaving. It is very likely that you can picture in your mind a rainbow you saw before. This rainbow was 4 times as wide. each color was at least half the size as one color in a regular rainbow. The colors were perfect as if painted on the sky. All this rainbow was a full bow and it was over my house.

When thinking about it, I remembered that in reviewing old notes the Monday before spent a lot of time on my Noah notes.

On Wednesday, went to Hobart Freeman videos on you tube. right there was a new video posted just 2 hours ago and had 2 views. It was a message on Noah's flood.

What a shame and loss when poor saints don't have the Holy Spirit to show them the things God wants to reveal by his Spirit. The natural mind cannot understand them. Those things when understood take your breath away to.
