Very interesting (tragic) what is going on with Israel Lebanon Iran Russia and America in Syria right now. Iran and Russia both setting up military bases there. Iran arming Hezbollah with ever more serious weapons. In the near term I think we will see Israel take more action against those bases. (Iran and Hezbollah)

In my opinion it is setting the stage for the war of Gog and Magog. For that to happen America would have to be not involved. There could be several reasons for that one of which could be a strong isolationist position.

Nothing serious is going to happen there in the short term though. One reason for that is the trip I'm planning to Israel for October

In regards to Gog and Magog . . . I wondered for a long time about Turkey. It is part of the coalition that invades Israel. There have historically been very strong ties between Israel and Turkey.

Strong military economic and diplomatic ties. There was even a lot of social ties between the military leadership of both countries. This new president of Turkey has really been cutting those ties. He has purged the entire senior leadership of the Turkish military. He has also aligned himself clearly with the anti-Israel forces.

Turkey also has a modern military that is more or less the equal of Israel's. Modern weapons and a member of NATO (so access to their intelligence). America right now is looking at selling Turkey the new F-35 stealth fighter which even with its problems is a huge step up from what everyone else in the world is using. In short a modern first class military that even mighty Israel would be extremely careful of taking on in a military conflict

It is becoming very apparent how Turkey would be part of the Gog war. I don't know if all of you are keeping up but with Russia and Iran both involved in Syria and setting up military bases and with Turkey's actions it's not hard to see the Gog war on the horizon.

It is always worth noting on comments like this that the Bible says from beginning to end that God is in control and that God's people will always be taken care of.

Isaiah 26/20-21

. . . Come my people . . . hide yourself . . . until the indignation be past

Here is one article (of many) on Turkey vs Israel.
