Someone sent this to me and said he is well worth reading. Other than his article being quite good I don't know anything about him.

Not sure if you know who this guy is although he is well known in Canada for various reasons. I don't overly like him or his business practice but I do like his opinions as I almost always agree with him. Whatever else I think about him he writes wonderfully well.

He writes a weekly column for one of our national dailies. Here is his latest.

Looks like the alchemists have finally figured out how to turn the mercury in thermometers--to gold!

Blessings,
William
