Just wanted to let those who are busy deleting messages that there is a quicker method than deleting them one at a time... I can delete in bulk if I know the reason and criteria you are using. I hate to see someone wasting a lot of time when it is totally unnecessary as I can do it in minutes instead of the laborious method of removing them one at a time.

I'm sure you are trying to be respectful to the other members who have taken time to post; deleting your notes from the midst of the others one at a time can be an arduous task.

Let me know if you need help in redeeming the time!

Blessings,
William
