1Kings 20:11 "A warrior putting on his sword for battle should not boast like a warrior who has already won."

Could this be the precursor for "Don't count your chickens before they hatch?"

It could... but also it could be saying that just strapping on a sword doesn't make one victorious in battle any more than claiming to be an overcomer, without having actually overcome anything, guarantees that one is going up in the first fruits rapture.

Or maybe deluding oneself into thinking that by signing up to run in a race(say...a marathon), that that will insure a person being the first to cross the finish line.(or that they'll even make it to the finish)

A not so famous quote that should be.

If your not going to preach it all.

DONT PREACH AT ALL.

When I see a bird that looks like a duck, quacks like a duck, has webbed feet like a duck, paddles in the water like a duck, and prefers the company of ducks, it is hard for me to resist the conclusion that it must be a duck! "Birds of a feather flock together" and where you feel at home is most likely where you belong. When Peter was released from jail, he headed for a prayer meeting. We gravitate to what lures us most and eventually we show up where we belong. "We know that we have passed from death unto life, because we love the brethren" (I John 3:14). If we don't love the brethren, we belong to the other crowd.
