
Subject: The more things change . . .
Posted by Mark L on Sun, 05 Dec 2010 15:52:51 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

I have never heard of this fellow which isn't surprising since I never watch TV but evidently he is the second biggest religious broadcaster. If you're interested and you google it there is plenty of info. What I found so very interesting was that there was a very careful legal counter attack. The original link was from a site I didn't like so I edited it.

<http://www.chron.com/disp/story.mpl/ap/tx/7323323.html>

<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=hT6mcetLRug>

If you read some of the info available its obvious someone is doing a whole lot of lying

I have some thoughts on the whole adultery issue which I'm going to share as soon as I have time to gather my thoughts and put pen to paper.

Subject: Re: The more things change . . .
Posted by james on Sun, 05 Dec 2010 17:46:52 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

Hardbones wrote on Sun, 05 December 2010 09:52 I have never heard of this fellow which isn't surprising since I never watch TV but evidently he is the second biggest religious broadcaster.

You haven't missed much Mark, Marcus and Joni Lamb own Daystar, which is the second largest 'christian network'.(behind TBN, founded and ran by Paul and Jan Crouch) They carry about the same false teachers/prophets/apostles that TBN has on their broadcasts. I saw this last week in the online Charisma Magazine and immediately thought of TBN and the Crouchs. They have had similar problems over there on TBN (remember Jim and Tammy Faye Baker?)

But like your title alludes..."the more they stay the same...". But really what else should one expect, and remember, these are just 'improprieties' that have been exposed(of course money is also involved). It amazes me how many people defend these so-called ministries and flood them with donations...opps, I mean, seeds.

I think the timing was good though, now they can put it all behind them in time for christmas..."Rudolph, the red-nosed reindeer....."

Subject: Re: The more things change . . .
Posted by GWB on Sun, 05 Dec 2010 22:35:15 GMT
View Forum Message <> Reply to Message

How funny Hardbones!

I love being the most boring house on the block this time of year! I use a snowman theme to decorate my house from November to Spring. Works for me!
