There is a ministry down under that I have some respect for that prophesied some time ago about this. That Indonesia was going to invade Australia. For that to happen America would have to be in a position not to intervene.

Just throwing some other thoughts out here. Speaking of end times. For the antichrist to rise to world dominion. The military & economic power of America India China & Russia would all have to be curtailed.

Russia of course in the Battle of Gog and Magog which I think is going to happen prior to the trib.

I think the Antichrist is going to arise to power in Europe prior to the trib as well.

I'd be interested in any insight or thought or knowledge anyone has on this kind of stuff.

Just throwing out a few thoughts before I jump on a jet plane.

I don't know much about military stuff, but I saw something interesting on this web site. It stated that Australia's military only had 80,000 troops...That doesn't sound like many compared to the USA; we have 2,450,000, or about 30 times as many as they do. Indoneasia has almost half a million.

I don't know how much a war between these two nations would come to bare on the end-time battle in the middle-east (Armagedon), other than fullfilling prophecies of "...wars and rumors of wars".

If I ever were to desire to travel somewhere abroad, (I don't see that happening at this point in my life, plus too much of America I've never seen), Australia would be a place I'd desire to go...(go diving on the Great Barrier Reef and hiking in the Outback)
