Hi Marilyn! Good to hear from you. It's been awhile!

I will definitely report back! God has given him a burden to share on Father's (my Daddy's Abba) love. I know that He will give him the perfect message for a broken world who needs God's love.

Surprised to hear this. James has been writing about the Father's Love for the last four years.

Exactly!

I am not taking your bait, Gary. It is not love to bicker and to divide. That is not love. It seems fingers are being pointed and they are not mine. That is your right. It is not right, but it has always been your right.

Everyone has the right to discern if they themselves have walked in love or if others have done the same.

I have my opinions and they are better left unsaid. I am praying for me and for many others. That includes OO.

Let me help you.

You are welcome to pray and to think the best just like Jesus would do.

No bait intended, you said: "you are so excited to finally hear about the Fathers love."

It sounds like you are saying; this is the first time you ever heard it.

At least that is the way I took it. No bait intended.

This past Sunday, a few people from FA, and I were able to hear Steve share on the love of our Father. It was so good and such a blessing to hear and to be reminded of how much He loves us.

"Faith works by love."

I believe we were taught the mechanics of faith, which was awesome. I like to compare that to a stick of dynamite. When love is used with that faith, it like the fuse that makes the stick of faith explode. Love being the fruit of the spirit and joyful emotion. That is how I see it, anyway.

In one of Steve's books, he talks about how we are all equal in relation to laity and the five-fold. God loves all of us equally. I will expound on this in another post. He talked about going out into the world now. Everything we do is important, be it changing diapers or working in the job force. We are to be sharing and ministering to people all of the time.

I just want to mention that I saw a lot of Stan Hill that morning in his son. If any of you knew Stan, you know what I am talking about.

It has been hard to share about a certain house and experience I had a few years ago. I am going to share in more depth about what happened and what transpired. I have decided that if some don't believe it or can't handle it, I am going to tell the story anyway.

In the house was a theme. It took me months to figure out what was going on. Diapers were left everywhere. Grapes of fertility, Easter eggs, etc. It all centered around birth. I then started seeing plastic lizards with their heads gone. Pictures of dragons were constantly being left all over the house. Pictures of babies were torn up and the babies heads were ripped off. Death was a central theme. There was a lot more, but you get the gist.

Then, one day, I got it!!! The dragon was trying to kill the Manchild! Rev 12 was being played out symbolically at that house! After they realized I understood, all literal hell broke loose. Then, they started to mock me and HEF and FA. How they did this will be told in more detail. I am going to add it to 'My Story.'

In short, this is what has been quickened to my spirit:

As we walk in love in the world, God will use our faith to show His love to a dying world. As we do it now, everyday, His anointing will grow into a greater works ministry. I know people, from New Albany, who have been transported to other places for ministry. HEF said this would happen!

It is happening!!! Satan knows it and he is trying to separate, kill, and divide The Manchild that is being birthed!

There is more that I want to share. Because of time constraints, I will share more later.

My prayer is that I will walk in the Spirit and not the flesh. I will die out and walk in love regardless of what man can do to me.

Again, my heart is excited and expectant!!

BTW: If anyone wants to google earth where all of this happened, here are the addresses:

My house: 1525 Rector Lane New Albany, IN

1500 Rector Lane My sister's house.

Armstrong's Bend in Floyd County IN

At one time, all of these houses belonged to kin of my Rector grandparents.

You can also see the cemetery and field that was in my dream about my Dad being concerned about his children's spiritual choices. Google Graceland Cemetery. It is right next to the family land.
